

METHODS FOR ADJUSTING CARDIAC DETECTION CRITERIA AND IMPLANTABLE MEDICAL DEVICES

USING SAME

5

10

Inventor: Ferek-Petric Docket: P-8191

METHODS FOR ADJUSTING CARDIAC DETECTION CRITERIA AND IMPLANTABLE MEDICAL DEVICES USING SAME

Abstract of the Invention

Implantable medical devices and methods of tachycardia detection that provide adjustable detection criteria based upon a hemodynamic parameter. In some embodiments, the apparatus and methods provide for detection and delivery of therapy for hemodynamically stable and hemodynamically unstable tachycardias by varying a number of intervals detected (NID) threshold based on hemodynamic measurements.